Okay! Here is the complete story:

Emma and Lylah were sent outside by their mom. When they went outside, they found some mysterious fog and decided to seek it out. The fog led them to a weird island named Anicanda.

On Anicanda, all of the things that were small were big, and all of the things that were big were small. They wanted to explore this island and found big rocks, but then they started to move! They discovered that they were eggs. Giant lizards hatched from the eggs and started to yell.

Emma, Lylah, and Max then heard big stomps – it was the mama lizard!
The mama lizard started to chase them into a forest. They saw a giant tree and hid right beside it, and the mama lizard was gone. It was night, and they found a weird, old campsite.

They went to sleep. Then, they woke up in their own beds. It had all been a dream.
